Future Rural Cambridgeshire

Exploring the future of rural communities across Cambridgeshire and Peterborough

Make your voice heard to help shape what's next for rural communities.

If you could change one thing about life in your rural community, what would it be? What would you want to protect?

Rural communities are changing. New housing, pressures on transport and local services, changes to public services, the evironment and economy will all influence rural life over the coming years. Change also brings opportunities.

Our Future Rural Cambridgeshire initiative is a countywide conversation. We want to understand what matters most to the people who live and work in rural communities. What you tell us will help Cambridgeshire ACRE identify priorities for its future support, projects and funding proposals.

Your experience is essential. You know what makes your community special, what is difficult and what could improve. Whether you are already involved in local activities, run a local business, care about your area or have never taken part in a consultation before, we want to hear from you.
